

FARIHA ALOM

farihaalom@gmail.com | + 880 172 6456 346 | Mohammadpur, Dhaka , Bangladesh, 1207

PROFILE

Enthusiastic Economics graduate with experience in academic research, data analysis and managing detailed research documentation. Skilled in research writing, preparing reports and presentations. Efficient, with strong communication and time management abilities. Committed to producing clear, reliable and data driven work.

EDUCATION

Bachelor of Science in Economics

2025

North South University, Dhaka

CGPA: 3.80/4.00

Major Courses: Intermediate Microeconomic Theory I & II, Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory I & II, Econometrics, Applied Statistics, Applied Mathematics for Economics I & II

Dissertation: "The Role of Female Decision Making in Shaping Protein Consumption Patterns in the Household: Evidence from Bangladesh"

A level

2021

Pearson Edexcel, Dhaka

3 A*/A

IGCSE

2021

Pearson Edexcel, Dhaka

8 A*/A

WORK EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant

Jan 2025 - Present

Department of Economics, North South University

- Collected, entered and analyzed secondary data (both quantitative and qualitative), ensuring accuracy and reliability in research outcomes.
- Conducted literature review and contributed to methodological design, strengthening research outcomes.
- Assisted in research writing and prepared reports, summaries and presentation for publications and academic conferences.

Undergraduate Teaching Assistant

Jan 2025 - Dec 2025

Department of Economics, North South University

- Prepared course materials and resources to support undergraduate instruction, including sourcing data for lectures.
- Conducted tutorial sessions on various economic topics to improve student understanding and performance.
- Supported faculty in grading, recording and other academic administrative tasks.

ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Dissertation: "The Role of Female Decision Making in Shaping Protein Consumption Patterns in the Household: Evidence from Bangladesh"

- Applied regression analysis using nationally representative data to examine how women's decision-making power influences household dietary protein intake in Bangladesh.

- Identified how socioeconomic factors and shocks shape household protein intake, providing insights for designing effective nutrition and empowerment programs.

AWARDS AND ACHIEVEMENTS

- Summa Cum Laude (to be conferred), North South University - awarded in recognition of excellent academic performance.
- Daily Star High Achievers Award: Recognized for exceptional results in IGCSE and A level.
- Certificate of High Academic Achievement, British Council - awarded for exemplary IGCSE results.

SKILLS

- Technical Skills: MS Excel, Word, PowerPoint, STATA
- Analytical Skills: Data collection, Data Analysis, Research Design, Report Writing
- Soft Skills: Leadership, Communication, Critical thinking, Time management, Teamwork
- Language: Bangla (Native), English (Advanced - IELTS Academic Score 8)

REFERENCES

Dr. Sakib Bin Amin

Professor & Director (APT)
Department of Economics
School of Business and Economics
North South University
Email: sakib.amin@northsouth.edu
Phone: +880 175 8871 668

Dr. Javed Hossain

Assistant Professor
Department of Economics
School of Business and Economics
North South University
Email: javed.hossain01@northsouth.edu
Phone: +880 177 7755 788